Necrology

Who's Who in Jurisprudence is planned as a record confined to living lawyers and jurists, but during the three years it has taken to gather and collate the data used in the volume there has been quite a large roll of those, especially among the veterans of the profession, who have died. Where the knowledge of their departure has reached the editor before the biography has been made up into pages, the story has been deleted. But in numerous cases this information has been delayed, and following is a list of those in the book who are known to have died:

ALLEN, William Vincent, p. 28, Jan. 12, 1924.
